Editor's Notes:

Hello everyone!

Winter is upon us and so is the fall/winter show season. Some of you have already set up your breeding pens for the coming breeding season, so that you can get those birds out early and in full feather! No matter whether you hatch early or late, the whole evolution of putting together your breeding pens, collecting the eggs, setting them and marking the chicks when they are born, all the way through rearing them to young adults is what makes our hobby so much fun. On a yearly basis, you get to see the fruits of your labor. You find out whether your matings improved the attribute you wanted them to, or whether you took a step backward and have to rethink your breeding strategy. That's what keeps us going; the lure of that perfect bird out there on the horizon. Will there ever be a perfect Cochin? I doubt it, but there will be some that are pretty darn close, and then you have to factor in each person's definition of the perfect Cochin. The two standards spell it out in black and white and then each of us has our own interpretation. Those interpretations are open to debate and that is often the case in Cochin aisles around the country. You've seen them at the shows. The two noteworthy breeders off to the side in professor like debate over their successes or disappointments in that year's crop of youngsters. Or they'll be discussing a particular bird, pointing out to each other their likes and dislikes about the specimen in question. And then when they can't come to an agreement or have a difference of opinion on a particular subject they'll poll a third party and get them in on their conversation! Yes indeed, that is what makes this hobby so much fun. We have our experts and we have our novices that will someday be experts. The only way to become an expert in this hobby is through experience. It is not something you can go to school to learn, unless you want to acknowledge the school of hard knocks, and it is not something that can be bought or sold. It is one of those things that have to be earned. That I think is one of the things that hooked me on the poultry fancy. When I started showing poultry in 4-H I had a little bit of everything. I had Polish, Cochins, Sebrights, Wyandottes, Leghorns, Silkies, Frizzles and who knows what else. I just liked taking them to the fair and shows around the area and getting that elusive Blue Ribbon! I think one of the things that also helped me as a fancier is that I participated in as many Showmanship contests as possible, both at the 4-H level and at the Poultry Shows. I was even lucky enough to go to the New York State Fair a couple of times to represent Ulster County! I can't recollect how well I did, but the experience gained from those endeavors is priceless. I encourage anyone with children interested in Poultry to get them involved at the 4-H level. Your local Cooperative Extensions have a lot to offer.

I guess my whole point in the above paragraph is that I am glad that I am a part of this hobby and not something else. The general public as a whole is unaware that we even put together shows for purebred poultry on any given Saturday or Sunday, and are happy to go to Denny's for their Grand Slam breakfast instead! We on the other hand get up at 3 am and drive 300 miles so we can get cooped in on time! What a life!! I haven't even mentioned the friendships that are made through our hobby. I have known Al Zielberger, a Wyandotte and Sebright man from Monsey, NY, since I can't remember, but it has to be right around 25 years. We keep in touch via phone calls when I am at my Dad's and now via email, and I saw him again at the Eastern New York State Poultry Association Show in Cobleskill, NY on 30 September. He looks exactly the same, but the thing that struck me the most about seeing him again was that right there along side him was John Chambers. John is a Sebright man of some renown and it dawned on me that over these past few years, I hardly ever see one of them without the other. Why, because they are friends! They enjoy our hobby and they travel together! We got to talking and the subject of John's age came up. John is 93 years young! I want to be showing Cochins when I am 93! What a great hobby!

I had the pleasure of attending the Eastern New York State Poultry Association Show on the 30th of September. In fact I got up there on Saturday to help Jamie and Terri Matts and the ENYSPA folks set up for their show. I had a great time and I stayed overnight Saturday at Jamie's place. We were out in the barn until almost midnight going through Cochins! I refer to the previous paragraph.....what a great hobby! The show was well attended and had some very nice Cochins entered. In fact Jamie had both Champion Featherleg and Champion Asiatic on a White Cochin Pullet and a Black Cochin Pullet respectively. My father and my step-mom Kathy came up to the show and I had originally planned on my being there to be a surprise, but my father managed to find out I was going to be there. It all worked out great anyway and Sunday afternoon I followed them back down to Wallkill and stayed until Tuesday morning. I wanted to get to see my parents before I came over here to Turkey. That show was the only one I got to attend in 2001 as my military commitments have kept me out of the country for seven months this year.

One last thing I would like to mention is that if you are able in any way to support your local poultry shows, you need to do it! They don't just set themselves up and tear themselves down. Those club members work pretty darn hard to ensure that we exhibitors have a good time. The profit margins for most shows are not very large. I know that today's entry fees seem high, but they are the primary means that the show uses to cover the cost of putting on the show and paying the judges. Anything left over is usually used to purchase new cages or improve the show in some fashion. Every little bit you can volunteer will be appreciated and you'll feel better that you did it!

Have a wonderful Holiday Season and Good luck in the coming New Year! Did I mention that this was a great hobby??

Cochins Rule!

Cochins International Breeders Directory Update

As you know, we were in the process of putting together another Breeders Directory for 2001. Unfortunately, Jeff Ryan had other items going that were higher priority and he wasn't able to get the Directory done for this year. Not to worry!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

First, however, I want to point out that Jeff has published 2 Breeders Directories since he was appointed as Directory Chairman. These are very handy little reference tools and I use mine all the time. In fact, I have the last one over here in Turkey with me. All of the Officers, Directors and Chairpersons of Cochins International hold these offices voluntarily and sometimes there just isn't the time to do the things we intend to. That is just the way it is. Jeff, on behalf of the club thank you for your hard work on the directories, and thank you for your dedication to our club and breed!

I mentioned above that you shouldn't worry. Although, the directory will not be done for 2001, we have plans for a directory to be published soon! Jay Smith from Sebastopol, California has volunteered to take over the duties as Directory Chairman. Since the publish date has slid a year, we decided to afford everyone another opportunity to submit their Cochin Information for inclusion in the next Directory. Enclosed with this newsletter you will find another information sheet. Please take a moment to fill it out and drop it in the mail to Jay. His address is right on the form. He would like to receive all of the information sheets by the 31st of January 2002. That gives you over a month to get these sheets back to him. Jay has some good ideas for the directory and I am looking forward to the finished product.

We are again accepting ads for the directory, and if you had submitted an ad to Jeff, all of that information is being sent to Jay, and will be included in the upcoming Directory. For those of you that sent in information forms, you may want to send in another just to update your Cochin information. For all of our new members, this will give you an opportunity to get your names and Cochin information into this handy reference book.

The ad prices will be as follows: 1/4 page: $10.00.....1/2 page: $20.00

If you have any question at all regarding the Directory, please contact Jay. His address, phone number and email are on page 2.

Club Elections: The Club voted to have elections every two years so the next Cochins International elections will be in the fall of 2002. Start planning now if you are thinking about running for one of the Officer or Director positions.

West Central District Update:

Greetings from the West Central District -

Fall is still hanging on here in the midwest and as I write this on Thanksgiving Day it's topping out at about 56 degrees which is great for this late in the season and that its dry and sunny always makes for better and safer travel on this busy travel weekend.

Well, I just returned from Richmond, VA and the Eastern National meet is history, I would just like to thank those who helped with the National in any way they helped to make it a great National. I think that the array of awards and specials won't be rivaled at any other National, again Thanks to those who helped in any way.

Congratulations to the Winners Bill West in Large Fowl on a Buff Cockerel and Otes Ray in Bantams on a Black Pullet. They put down some great birds in great condition and congratulations to all the other people who competed with good birds in many colors, unfortunately there can only be a couple of top winners. So if you had a BV or RV in a colored variety remember that you were top in your particular color variety and that is an accomplishment in itself, be proud of those accomplishments!!!

I will be moving birds in this weekend from there summer housing to winter quarters where I will have to decide who will anchor which pens that hopefully provide some Champions or at least a 1st place winner for the year 2002. Take this task seriously and give it some good thought as making the right decision now will avoid disappointment as the young birds mature and hopefully turn out to be what we had hoped for and not a disappointment.

Better close for now.

Keep Fluffy,

Mark A. Peterson

Southeast District Update:

Hello from the South. This is the time of the year that it is the most beautiful time in Florida. It is still a bit warm for the birds, but for people, couldn't be better. My birds are still not in peak condition. They normally look their best in January. It doesn't cool off here until maybe the end of December.

CONGRATULATIONS TO OTES RAY FOR OVERALL CHAMPION COCHIN AT THE 2001 EASTERN NATIONAL, you keep the South proud.

I regret that my truck was not cooperative when I was going up for the Eastern Cochins International National. My truck decided to blow a motor in Savannah, GA. The hospitality of Georgia did not sooth my nerves. I was really looking forward to competing up there, and meeting some of the people whose names I have only seen in print. I plan on going to the Western National in Roseville, so we'll see if those plans go better. I am anxious to meet the western people and to get a look at their birds. My reservations are made and I'm ready. I competed in California some 25 years ago and it will be interesting to see how many people are still around that I knew.

I was very satisfied with the progress that my birds made this year, and also the wins on birds sold to clients. It's always nice to get calls from happy clients. It is the fun of experimenting and guessing on what will work, and when it does it's magic, and when it doesn't, don't do that again. I have 4 birds purchased from Dawn Ware when she decided to go out of breeding and it will be interesting to see how they combine with the blood I now have. They are 3/4 Anderson and 1/4 Henderson blood. I hope Dawn and her MULES are doing just fine. I would like to wish everyone a Happy Holiday season.

John

How a Cochin is Like a Cheetah

By Jordan Sideris

Solvang, CA

Age: 13

Cochins are usually slow, calm chickens that don't like to move, right? WRONG!! They are calm and usually slow, but my bantam black cockerel runs in short, but very fast bursts when he wants to. Cheetahs also run in short spurts (no more than 20 seconds or they could possibly overheat and die) at 71 MPH. My cockerel does not move quite that fast.

I let him out of his hutch in the morning. After being stuck in there all night, my cockerel hops out and waits until I disappear around the side of the barn to get him some water. Then he sprints out of his pen and around the barn corner, sees me, stops, and pretends to be very interested in the dirt beneath him (he really doesn't like to dash around while people are watching).

We have a 6" high and 5" wide rock border around our chicken area. My cockerel's short sprints can take him right over this border smoothly without touching it. He just skips a step and without slowing down or unfolding his wings, he hops over. He never sprints for more than 5 or 6 seconds without stopping and looking around (he likes to tilt his head back and look straight up and see what's above him).

We have a standard size Dominique hen who is mean and bossy to all chickens smaller than she is. One morning when she was out of her pen eating, my cockerel happened to "run" into her. When she started to try to peck him, he jumped up and down like a prize fighter to avoid her pecks until I came to break up the fight.

So don't be fooled by your Cochin's calm disposition or slow movements. He or she may be a cheetah at heart too.

Editor's Note: Thank you Jordan for sharing your short story with us! Jordan is one of our Junior members. A fancier in the making for sure!

Northeast I District Update:

Well, Hello All!!

This fall has had a lot of ups and downs. On the upside I just got back from the Eastern National Cochin Meet at Richmond, Virginia and WOW!!! What a bunch of nice cochins but a bigger bunch of nice people. I met a lot of people that I only knew their names and now I can put a face with the name. I don't want to go into a list of all the people I met I just want to say I really enjoyed meeting each and every one of you and even more so enjoyed discussing our hobby. Congratulations go out to Rich for doing a fine job and to Tom for all the nice awards along with everyone who donated.

A big congratulation goes out to Otes Ray who walked away with the bantam class and best Cochin with a nice black Cochin pullet. I would also like to personally congratulate Bill West whose buff cockerel swept the large fowl category. Also to the members in my district who did well Donna Lamb RV white on a nice hen and Charlie Anderson for BV Blue on his cockerel. Donna had another great win at the District Meet with her White Pullet taking BB.

Also Jeff Ryan had a win at Boston with a buff bantam cockerel this bird was also BB. Way to go Jeff and Donna. I myself did quite well at the shows in my area with Reserve Bantam ABA at the Cobleskill Show and Champion Asiatic as well. Also Champion Asiatic at the Twin Tiers Show where Bill Ziehm had BB on a black pullet for the bantams. At the Yankee Fall Classic I also had BB on a white and BB large fowl on a black pullet. Thanks again to John Thyssen for a great foundation for the blacks and mottled large fowl.

On a down note the events of September 11th have left us all a bit shaken. I myself am thankful that we have this hobby to keep our minds off of other less pleasant things. I have been anxiously waiting to setup my breeding pens but as of the weekend after Thanksgiving I am set and ready to hatch!!! Now if I could just talk all my hens of every color to lay at once I would be in great shape. Currently the white bantams are laying along with the columbians and mottleds. I made a trip up to Massachusetts to Bill West's place and acquired some more buff large fowl. His birds are just beautiful I am enjoying them immensely. Their beauty and personality are great. I find myself kneeling down in their pens just to chat with them and I swear they talk back. (Probably breathing too much chicken dust!! Right?) Thanks again to Bill for a very nice visit and also for allowing me to pick his brain for Cochin knowledge.

Another down note is the current shipping crisis I am still having problems trying to ship birds. Hopefully things will change soon. My goal in raising these birds is not only for self enjoyment but also I want to try to get as many people involved in this hobby as possible. It does my heart good to see my daughter out in the barn helping me with chores. She is learning a sense of responsibility and a sense of compassion for animals. And it also keeps her off the couch and not in front of the television or computer screen where I feel too many people spend their time these days. Please get involved with helping the shipping crisis and also in helping our next generation. I get a lot of feedback from the younger set who are buying birds, some good and some bad. I always try to put myself in their shoes and ask myself what the birds meant to me at that age.

Well, I have probably rambled on enough I hope everyone has a safe and happy holiday and I look forward too seeing many of you at the Springfield show in January. Hopefully no snow that weekend! To those of you who are starting to hatch good luck and may you hatch a winner. And to those of you who wait until spring all I can say is "What gets you through the winter?" My answer is chicks in January!

Take Care,

Jamie

Northeast II District Update:

Greetings from the Northeast II District -

Well it came and went and what an event it was. The 2001 Eastern National of Cochins International was held on November 17 and 18 in Richmond Virginia. The show was fantastic and two birds from the Cochin aisles were selected as class champions. A beautiful Black Pullet by Otes Ray, Sr. was selected as champion featherleg and a Large typey Buff Cockerel by Bill West was champion Asiatic. Unfortunately, neither bird went further than top of the class but the competition was stiff with over 3,400 birds shown.

I want to personally thank all the exhibitors for their hard work in making this show a success. Most of you know that I inherited this job when Bill Lewis made a career change and moved out of the region. Hosting the Eastern National in the district was to say the least a lot of work and it couldn't have been done without a lot of help from Carl and Judy Sanderlin and Jamie Matts. Carl and Judy manned the awards table and gave me some time to chase after my kids, sell some birds outside and record all the winners. Jamie took pictures, and a lot of pictures he did take. I don't know whose photo box we used but hey, it was empty and no one was around to say we couldn't so I guess it was ok.

All totalled, 374 Cochins were actually shown and of that total 291 were bantams and an additional 83 were large fowl. We were saddened to learn that John Thyssen broke down on his way up from Florida. I had an opportunity to meet John last year at Richmond and enjoyed looking over his large fowl. John would have given us all a good run for the money and we missed him and his birds.

Well this one is in the record books and we can only hope that the Western National will be as successful. Best wishes to all and Happy Holidays.

Rich

Send checks (made out to Cochins International) along with your ad to me. I will forward your payment to Dennis after I get your ad set up. Business cards will work, but original photos work the best. Any type of graphic is acceptable as well. I can help with the design if necessary. The clearer the photos the better.
